Valdosta, Georgia

FALL 1951

SPRING 1952

Valdosta, Georgia is taking its place in the Hemerocallis world. The shows of 1950-1951 have done much to promote this interest. Valdosta's climate and soil are excellent for the growing of good Hemerocallis. Valdosta has many fine collections. One of the most interesting of which is that of Mrs. Sam D. Register of this city.

As early as 1935 Mrs. Register began collecting the newest and best from the well known hybridizers of that time. From these she began her program of hybridizing. Being a good judge of the best qualities in a daylily, she has, through the years discarded the inferior, only keeping those that have shown promise. Out of the best of these she has selected twenty-five that have been named and registered with the National Hemerocallis Society. These have been grown by Mrs. Register from five to ten years. They are now being grown in test gardens in many sections of the country. They have made a wonderful showing in our nursery and have made a good showing wherever they have been grown.

The McDonald Nurseries are delighted that we have ^{been} chosen by Mrs. Register to introduce these fine Hemerocallis to the public. We are happy to be the first to offer these superior Hemerocallis for sale for the 1951-1952 season.

ROYAL TOGA - Mid-season - 44" - Evergreen. Very dark reddish purple self, sulphur yellow throat. The heavy texture has the appearance of velvet. The period of bloom is from the first of June until mid-August. The foliage is light green and arching. This clone increases rapidly. $ 10.00

NIGHT LIFE - Early Mid-season - 38" - Large light yellow self. Begins opening mid-afternoon and remains open 24 hours. This makes a lovely show in the garden. It is a good parent plant. The foliage is blue green and slender. $ 10.00

^{Bergin}
GARDEN QUEEN - Mid-season - 36" - Evergreen. Dark red flower with deep purple eye-zone and deep purple mid-rib. Sulphur yellow throat. Sun resistant. Graceful erect scapes with slender arching foliage. $ 5.00

GARDEN KING - Mid-season - 32" - Evergreen. Very dark purple self with green throat. This is one of the most satisfactory dark daylilies we know. It blooms from early June until September. It is sun resistant. Has graceful foliage and increases rapidly. $ 5.00

MRS. A. WINN - Purplish brown, polychrome - deep purple eye-zone with yellow throat. Increases rapidly and often has recurrent blooming periods. Gives the best effect when protected from the hot mid-day sun. $ 1.00

One each of these five new introductions for the special price of $25.00. We believe ROYAL TOGA or NIGHT LIFE to be as good as any $25.00 daylily on the market today.

TRIBUTE

We wish to pay tribute to the fine work being done in the Hemerocallis field by our good friend and neighbor, Mrs. Guy Rice. Her Hemerocallis display garden has attracted much attention. Mrs. Rice, as chairman of the Horticultural Committee of The Valdosta Garden Club, was helpful in establishing The Annual Hemerocallis Show. Because of this work, she was recognized by The National Hemerocallis Society and was made Director of the Fifth Region.
